WILL RESUME BOATBUILDING TO SUPPLY CRAFTS IN UPPER RIVER

Brownsville Again to be Scene of Construction Work in That Line

PRODUCTS TO GO BY RIVER

Frick Company and Brown Interests Will Ship Coal by Water Instead of By Rail—Shipbuilding an Old Brownsville Industry.

Boat building once the principal industry in Brownsville when the three towns were the headwater of navigation on the Monongahela river, is to be resumed in a small way at the Alicia plant of the W. Harry Brown intrests as soon as the construction of a marine ways have been held under advisement by the Pittsburg office of the Brown interests for some time, but it is believed that a final draft of the plans has been approved.

The contract for the excavation for the marine ways has been awarded to the Parsor Construction company and work will be commenced immediately in grading down the famous old race track near the Alicia works and replace the old course with a modern boatbuilding yard. The docks for the marine ways will be constructed of cement it is understood and will be used to repair steamboats and barges owned by the Brown interests and also for the construction of new barges.

The building of the marine ways would indicate more forcibly than any other move projected by any of the operating companies the return by some to river navigation for shipping coal down the river. It is known that coal from the mines owned by H. C. Frick company along the river front will be shipped principally by river to the by product plant of the United States Steel corporation as soon as the first battery of 600 ovens is completed. It has practically been confirmed that the Frick company has taken over the Alice mine of the Pittsburg Coal company opposite Roscoe and will use the opening as an outlet to ship coal from the Colonial mines to the by-product plant.

In Brownsville's early history, shipbuilding was the chief industry and during the Civil war several boats used by the Union forces were constructed in Brownsville. The river front in West Brownsville was lined with shipyards in years gone by.

The Brown interests own two steamboats, the Alicia and the Collier, which ply the Monongahela river It is said that several other steamboats will be acquired and that the marine ways will be used both to repair steamboats and barges and also to construct new barges.

GRAND JURY VISITS COUNTY HOME; ENJOY DINNER PARTY

Others Are Guests—No Visit Made To Children's Home on Account of Contagious Diseases.

The grand jury visited the county jail Friday morning and at 10:11 went to the county home. Shortly before noon they were called to the dining room there, where they found awaiting a very fine dinner. They were guests of Superintendent John McNary Dr. I. D. Sargent, physician at the home, Harry A. Jones, counsel for the poor board, and Director of the Poor George E Adams were also guests.

Following dinner the jury went over the home, the farm buildings and other places of interest. They found everything in excellent condition. It was explained to them that bids were already being solicited for the annex to the home at the rear of the main building proper. It was pointed out to them just where this annex would stand and what accommodations it would offer. No visit was made to the children's home for the reason that it is under quarantine for whooping cough and chickenpox.

The jury has adjourned until Monday when road and bridge petitions will be taken up.

NO CONCESSIONS MADE IN STRIKE

Hussey-Binns Shovel Company Men Still Out, As Well as Tremont Miners

MINERS LEAVING VICINITY

The situation at the Charleroi plant of the Hussy-Binns Shovel company, where a number of men quit work last Monday because of dissatisfaction over wages, remains about the same. None, so far as can be learned, have returned to work and no offer has been made of concession. That part of the mill not affected by the strike has been kept in operation but a suspension may be necessary if a settlement is not soon reached.

At the Tremont mine opposite Dunlevy where a strike was declared on account of alleged delay in putting into affect the new run of mine wage scale, there is no change. Miners decline to go to work until they are notified that the run of mine basis of pay will be followed. A number of them are leaving the vicinity.

Plaintiff Wins Case.

A verdict awarding $3,150.50, was returned for the plaintiff at Greensburg in the case of Mrs. Louisa Jane Price against the Belle Vernon Coal & Coke company. Mrs. Price sought to recover $15,000 from the company for damages done to her land when the defendants mined the coal from beneath it. The case was heard before Lucien W. Doty.

STEEL MEN VISITORS; TRIP NOT SIGNIFICANT

Pittsburgh Steel Company Officials Go Over Dunlevy Site and Then Inspect Monessen Mills—Not Stated Dunlevy Site Will Be Used Immediately

An inspection of the Monessen mills and of the Dunlevy bottom site over which there has been considerable talk of late was made by a party of Pittsburg Steel company officials Friday but no definite results are promised in the way of improvements. Included in the party were: Wallace Rowe, president; John Bindley, E. P. Bennett, Willis McCook and Emil Winters. They were met by General Superintendent C. J. Mogan.

The party alighted from the Pennsylvania morning express train at Dunlevy at 8 and spent all the rest of the morning and a little of the afternoon there. Then a trip was made to Monessen where the mills were inspected.

It is not stated that the company will proceed immediately to erect any sort of a plant at Dunlevy or install coke ovens as rumored. In fact no information is to be had on this subject. The company is not understood to have reached a definite decision yet as to the use to be made of the valuable site at Dunlevy.

NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE CIRCUS, AS INSTITUTION

The Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus will come to Charleroi on Saturday, May 13. For real bloded Americans the announcement is of supreme interest. It's the old story of nothing succeeds like success. The physical parts of a great circus are just as interesting as the circus performance itself. The circus is a typical American institution, presided over by men with dauntless courage and brains long trained in the service.

When the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus was in Europe several years ago the Kaiser obtained permission from the management for Gen. Von Bruent and a detail of army officers to travel with the big show for a fortnight that they might observe the business-like details by which the great institution was moved from place to place. Careful study was made of the manner in which the ponderous wagons were unloaded from the cars of how several thousand meals were served daily in the canvas hotels, and they went away declaring they had never witnesses anything so marvelous. Gen. Von Bruent declared that in the past the army officers unloaded their commissary wagons over the sides of the cars by means of a block and tackle, instead of rolling them down a runway. The leaders of the European war employed American circus methods in transporting their guns of war and supplies.

During the engagement here performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. The parade is at 10 a. m.

BIG NUMBER LISTED ON THE VARIOUS BALLOTS

A certified copy of the candidates for State, congressional and legislative offices, including delegates-at-large and alternatives to the national conventions of the Democratic and Republican parties, has been received by the county commissioners. Clerk Harry Campbell has been busy at work on the lists for the primary election on May 16.

The Democratic and Republican partisan ballots will swarm with candidates.

The Washington party will also have a full list of candidates on its primary ballot, but although it elects a county committee under the same plan as the Republican party, no candidates have filed in this county, so the names will have to be written on the ballot.

Prohibitionists and Socialists will also have candidates for most of the offices, but the other four political parties which are permitted separate partisan ballots, have no candidates registered. They include the Roosevelt, Progressive, the Personal Liberty, the Keystone and the Bull Moose parties.

Following are the candidates printed on the partison ballots of the Republican party:

President of the United States—Martin G. Brumbaugh.

United States Senator—Philander C. Knox, Allegheny County.

State Treasurer—(Vote for one)—J. V. Clark, Washington County; Harmon M. Kephart, Fayette County.

Auditor General—(Vote for one)—Charles A. Ambler, Montgomery; Charles A. Snyder, Schulykill.

HIGH SCHOOL EXHIBITION IS ATTENDED BY LARGE CROWD

Fegular Work Done During Year Displayed at High School Gymnasium

MUCH PROFICIENCY SHOWN

Manual Training and Domestic Science Departments, With Commercial, Regular And Junior High School Departments Hold Visitors.

The second annual exhibition of high school and junior high school work was featured at the high school gymnasium Friday afternoon and evening. Large crowds coursed through the rooms during the hours of the exhibition, from ? in the afternoon until after 9 o'clock at night. On the whole probably the exhibition was better than the first one last year, and people had thought that impossible to surpass. The high school orchestra under direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel rendered music, as did also the high school mandolin club.

The display was a showing of regular work done during the school year in all the various departments of high school and the junior high. Probably the manual training department of which G. Frank Malick is the head and the domestic science department of which Miss Carolyn E. Bowman is the head received the most attention. The commercial department with C. E. Presho in charge was especially attractive and Principal S. R. Grim had a display of regular high school work that was decidedly interesting, showing the progress of pupils in all lines.

In the manual training display were exhibited various kinds of stands, tables, tabourettes, book cases, swings and different odds and ends in the furniture line. The mechanical drawing exhibit was an important part of the showing.

Household articles prepared under the instruction of the domestic science teacher featured the display of the domestic science department. Things that a mere man dare not attempt to describe were there in profussion, including needle work and fine fluffy biscuits and delicious table dainties.

Specimens of high grade penmanship, works of art, and specimens of typewriting, cartooning and intricacies of the bookkeeping profession were exhibited by Prof. Presho and his assistant, Miss Zella Franks. Splendid work has been done this year by the high school commercial department folk and Friday night it showed forth.

Among the most interesting work displayed under the charge of Principal Grimm was that of history. Models of various devices used in wars of the past were demonstrated with descriptive work of each. Other high school departmental work was demonstrated all studies being included in the display.

One place that was a constant center of interest was that of the science table where K. M. Humphrey, the science teacher had arranged some of his apparatus. Included was a wireless telegraph arrangement and messages were flashed from this small

ALL MONESSEN TRAILS BOY WHO IS ACCUSED OF PEELING TREE

Youngster to be Punished for Act of Vandalism—Other Towns Taking Up Similar Cases.

For peeling a tree that was growing in a park at Monessen a boy of about 13 years has been arrested at that point and will be given a hearing tonight. It is claimed that the lad peeled bark from the tree for a space of about four feet. When the desecration was noted and complaint made to the police, the entire force, with the ordinance officer, Burgess A. G. Dunlap and private citizens got on the trail of the offending youngster and succeeded in locating him. The case against him will be hard pushed. Other towns are taking up similar cases.

USE OF CONCRETE TO BE SUGGESTED

County Commissioners to Lay Matter of Road Improvement Before Jury

BRIDGE MATTER COMES UP

Upon petition of the county commissioners, John O. Watson, A. P. Barnum and Thomas Hill the court has made an order directing the laying before the grand jury on next Monday the proposed alteration and amendment for the improvement of a section of the Cecil-Venice road. It is proposed to change the plans by improving a portion of the road with concrete instead of with brick.

The road has been already approved by the court and grand jury for improvement with brick. It is estimated the concrete road will cost $28,800.75 which includes ten per cent for incidentals.

The proposition to erect a county bridge over Peters creek in the borough of Finleyville will also be laid before the grand jury next week. The estimated cost is $5,557.20 including ten per cent for incidentals.

CROWDS FROM OUT-OF-TOWN COME FOR "NE'ER-DO-WELL"

"The Ne'er-do-Wells," a famous moving picture drama written by Rex Beach and produced by the Selig company was a big feature at the Coyle theatre Friday night. Nirella's orchestra played the music score for the piece. Large crowds from Charleroi, augmented by visitors from other points viewed the production, which was given in 10 reels. The drama was well staged, scenes being laid in Panama, and on the Coyle screen was made all the more attractive.

RAGS, OLD RAGS.

[illegible] too many [illegible] and [illegible] conditions [illegible] instances [illegible] relief [illegible] That one [illegible] conditions a pretext for depressing the price of certain raw materials while at the same time advancing the price of the finished product is the charge recently made by a trade journal which is the [illegible] in the [illegible]

The Waste Trade Journal states that it was but recently paper manufacturers started such an outcry about the shortage of raw materials that the U. S. government was induced to promote a movement among the people and ask—and received—the cooperation of the press in urging the public to collect for sale all the rags and waste paper to be found.

As a result, says the Journal, receipts by graders and dealers in rags and waste paper have largely increased but the logical consequence that paper makers should buy freely has not ensued. On the contrary, paper mills are declared to have withdrawn from the market almost entirely, telling the dealers in rags and waste paper have largely increased but the logical consequence that paper makers should buy freely has not ensued. On the contrary, paper mills are declared to have withdrawn from the market almost entirely, telling the dealers in rags they have all they want for some time at the same time they are constantly obliged to raise prices on print paper, owing to the scarcity of raw materials.

The purchasing agent of a mill, it is charged, is handing out the "plenty of raw material" argument to the dealer trying to sell him rags or waste paper while at the same moment the salesman of the same mill is advising buyers that prices of paper must be boosted another ten per cent nothwithstanding the rapid advances which have already taken place on account of the scarcity and high price of raw materials.

The Waste Trade Journal professes the belief that "the rag dealer is being made the goat although the printer and publisher is not escaping either." If the manufacturer is telling the truth to the rag dealer he should be making better prices to the publisher. "If he is telling the truth to the publisher he should be paying higher instead of demanding lower figures from the rag man. If he is lying to both the public ought to know it."

We have no means at hand of verify or discrediting the charges made. The journal making them is a responsible publication and what it has to say cannot be dismissed without due consideration. We quite agree with the Journal that the public ought to know the truth for the public is threatened with an advance in the price of one of its daily necessities, the newspaper, owing to repeated advances in the most of print paper. If the mills are paying no more for raw materials the consumer of their product is being sand-bagged and the reading public is by way of being held up by and by.

It seems to us that if the Federal Trade Commission, with its almost unlimited powers of investigation, is worth its salt here is an opportunity to prove the fact and earn its salt.

LLOYDS FORSEE END OF WAR

Lloyds, the great London insurance concern, have posted odds on the end of the war which are highly significant. They offer only 1 to 3 that the war will not end before December 31, 1913. This indicates a very strong belief upon their part that the war is beginning to draw to a close.

For several weeks the rate of insurance to guarantee against loss if the war should end by the last of the year, has been advancing steadily until now, it is announced from London, it is almost prohibitive. There is much speculation, the news dispatch adds, as to whether the brokers have any substantial reason for their action, says the Uniontown Herald.

One thing which may have caused a lengthening of the odds is the large amount which they stand to lose if hostilities should terminate before the end of the year. There are many concerns founded solely because of the war demands and whose business would be destroyed just as soon as the fighting ceases. They have sought to fortify themselves against loss by insuring with Lloyds. They can afford to pay roundly for the protection but few of them could apparently afford to risk a premium three times as great as the rate of the policy.

That Lloyds most likely know what they are about is shown by the fact that the concern has been in business for a very long period. They will insure anything. They have been able to forecast the future so well that they have met every loss and have piled up a large surplus for the owners. They have access to information absolutely beyond acquisition by the public singly or in other combinations.

The world will hope that the faith now expressed in the betting odds at Lloyds will soon become a blessed reality.

Tenth Regiment men are busy now learning how to do nothing gracefully and it should be a profitable experience. "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," and the Braddock strike riot, terrible in its effects, is that wind. Tenth folk are getting a taste of army experience now, though inactive. They are cultivating an acquaintance with army duties and living off the same sort of rations they could expect to get in the field under ordinary stress. They are fitting themselves for contingences. Equally as valuable is the knowledge obtained by officers of the dispatch with which the Regiment can be called out. A few hours time is all that is necessary. Ninety per cent of Company A was mobilized this week in four hours time. Other companies made as good records. If it should come to the worst the entire force could be depended upon on the shortest notice and what a splendid, movable, fighting force it makes. With the possibilities of trouble engulfing the United States this may be considered a psychological moment for calling out the national guard.

The person who thinks Uncle Sam doesn't mind if he uses a stamp that has been used before and cancelled is likely to change his opinion after reading of the persistency with which the postal authorities are going after that C al Centre man, accused of using cancelled stamps. The postal laws are laws with which it is unwise to tamper. There's something fearsome about a postoffice inspector when he gets on one's trail. Somehow he seems to have a habit of "arriving." Perhaps a man can escape 99 times out of every 100 he uses a cancelled stamp but what doth it profit a man if he gain the whole works and lose his own liberty.

"SCRUBBING CHARIOT" A DEVICE WORTH COPYING.

Not Only Saves a Great Many Steps, but the Work Can Be Done With Much More Ease and Comfort —How to Make It.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the many labor-saving devices made and demonstrated by the farm women under the direction of the woman agents of the department of agriculture in the South, with the cooperation of the state agricultural colleges, is the "scrubbing chariot." This consists of a comfortable padded frame on rollers which enables the housewife, in wiping the floor, to do the scrubbing with more ease and comfort and save a great many steps. It may be built at a very small cost, the material needed consisting of a ¾-inch plank, 20 by 20 inches, 2-inch strips for the sides, which should be 8½ inches long by 4 inches wide, and a front piece of the same material 20 inches long and 4 inches wide. An ordinary soap box can be used for this by cutting down the size to about 5 inches high and knocking out one side. The padding for the bottom of the chariot may be made of burlap. Tack this around the inside of the chariot and place the whole thing on four rollers. Place a soap dish on one side and a little rack for the scrubbing brush on the opposite side. This contrivance, it is estimated, costs about 47 cents.

NEWS FROM THE FARM CLUBS

Kansas Mothers and Daughters Can Much Home-Grown Product—Wyoming Boy Raises Potatoes.

A Kansas mother-daughter canning club, consisting of 11 mothers and 11 daughters, canned 2,000 quarts of home-grown products last season, according to a report from the state agent.

A Wyoming club boy is reported to have produced 70 bushels of potatoes on one-eighth acre. He made a net profit of $30.65, and also earned the state championship.

The champion potato-club boy of Montana is reported to have produced 65 bushels of potatoes on his one-tenth-acre plat, at a cost of $15.63. His net profit was $47.27.

Several fruit growers stated at a recent Minnesota horticultural society's meeting that they were able to get top prices for fruit sold through commission men. Inquiry showed that these men have established a reputation for good packing and good fruit, and the commission men are anxious to get their fruit.

SAVING THE FENCE POSTS

Charring Has Been Found to Be One of the Best of the Methods Devised.

A common method of treating fence posts to prevent decay where they go into the ground has been charring the butts. But now comes the forestry department of the Missouri college of agriculture with the results of experiments showing that although charcoal cannot rot, it does crack so badly that the little fungi that cause rot get through and shorten the life of the posts so treated.

Charring, the experimenters found, failed to lengthen the life of willow, cottonwood, ironwood hackberry or basswood sufficiently to make them satisfactory post materials, and probably white walnut, hickory, white elm, sassafras and red bud are not helped much either, although tests with them have not been continued long enough to give the final results. Charring appeared to give much better results in cases of black walnut, river birch, oak, hedge sugar maple, black locust, honey locust, Kentucky coffee tree, dogwood, black ash and catalpa. The sapwood of catalpa, hedge, black walnut and black locust was almost completely burned in charring.

With the failure of the charring methods as a preservative from rot the college men have turned to the use of creosote to save fence posts from decay.—Country Gentleman.

To Launder Fringed Cloths.

Fringed cloths are often quite ruined in appearance at the laundry. They may be made to look like new for an indefinite period if when they are starched a little care is taken not to starch the fringe. Fold each cloth in four, like a handkerchief, and then gather the fringe of each part into the hand and hold it firmly while you dip the middle into the starch. When the cloth is dry shake the fringe well and comb it with a comb and it will fall as softly and prettily as when new.

Cauliflower and Cabbage.

To keep cauliflower white and free from scum when cooking; before placing the cauliflower in the saucepan tie it up in a piece of clean muslin. When ready, it can be easily lifted from the pot into the colander to drain. Untie the muslin and you will find the vegetable beautifully whole.

When boiling cabbage, to prevent the unpleasant smell that it always makes, it will be found very good to place a small piece of bread tied up in muslin in the saucepan.

Delicious Pie.

Take one cupful seeded raisins, one cupful cranberries (raw), chopped together; one-third cupful water, two-thirds of a cupful of sugar with one heaping teaspoonful of flour mixed with the sugar; mix all together and bake between two crusts.

TRIBUTE TO COLLEGE MEN.

One of the finest recent tributes to the American college is to be found in an article written by an expert in salesmanship who has 160 men working under his direction. His theory is that "the most vital thing to a man is himself." Hence he wants as salesmen men who think most of their own success as sellers, and who will believe, with him, that "the primeval self is the controlling factor in most men."

Consequently, he says, he never employs college graduates. Why? Because, he explains, "the refined man is too apt to think of others, too liable to have had a big proportion of the selfishness worked out of him. For this reason I never look to college graduates." Nevertheless, there are college bred salesmen who have risen above the "primeval self" and who manage to get orders by thinking of buyers' rights as well as sellers' profits. — Christian Science Monitor.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

"Some philosophers say that objects which we call inanimate have thoughts and feelings."

"Maybe they have," rejoined Mr. Cumrox. "If such is the case the piano my daughter practices on is a mighty patient brute."

ALL SORTS.

"How's this—seven different styles of plug hats?"

"The line officers of our lodge. Each bought a plug hat the year he was elected."

IN CHARITY'S NAME.

Heiny—Don't you think Miss Hazel is passing fair?

Aimee—Well, to tell you the truth, I think she is already past it.

SISTER: READ MY FREE OFFER!

I am a woman.
I know a woman's trials.
I know her need of sympathy and help.

If you, my sister, are unhappy because of ill-health, if you feel unfit for household duties, social pleasures, or daily employment, write and tell me just how you suffer, and ask for my free ten days' trial of a home treatment suited to your needs. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any man. I want to tell you how to cure yourself at home at a cost of about 12 cents a week.

If you suffer from women's peculiar ailments causing pain in the head, back, or bowels, feeling of weight and dragging-down sensations, falling or displacement of pelvic organs, causing kidney and bladder weakness or constipation and piles, painful or irregular periods, catarrhal conditions and discharges, extreme nervousness, depressed spirits, melancholy, desire to cry, fear of something evil about to happen, creeping feeling along the spine, palpitations, hot flashes, weariness, sallow complexion with dark circles under the eyes, pain in the left breast, or a general feeling that life is not worth living.

I INVITE YOU TO SEND TODAY FOR MY FREE TEN DAYS' TREATMENT

and learn how these ailments can be easily and surely conquered at home without the dangers and expense of an operation. When you are cured, and able to enjoy life again, you can pass the good word along to some other sufferer. My home treatment is for young or old. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain how to overcome green sickness (chlorosis), irregularities, headaches, and lassitude in young women and restore them to plumpness and health. Tell me if you are worried about your daughter. Remember, it costs you nothing to give my home treatment a ten days' trial, and does not interfere with daily work. If health is worth asking for, then accept my generous offer and write for the free treatment, including my illustrated booklet, "Woman's Own Medical Adviser." I will send all in plain wrappers postpaid. To save time, you can cut out this offer, mark your feelings, and return to me. Send today, as you may not see this offer again. Address,

HUNTER CARNIVAL TO OPEN UP AT WIRETON

There are carnivals and carnivals as I have seen since the happy days of "Merrie England" where this form of amusement originated, but it is doubtful, says the press agent of such a meritorious combination was ever gotten together—even in the days of Robin Hood—as that featured by Showman Harry Hunter which opens Monday on the Wireton grounds at the bridge.

This is a combination of circus, menagerie, museum and wild west—the latter "to the manner born" in a red Indian cowboy way, with wild and tame animals of the cat species as freaks, human and animal garnered from all quarters of the earth, the result of years of careful search and discrimination.

The grounds will be illuminated by thousands of electric lights. They will resemble a scenaris from "Midsummer's Night Dream." The spectacle will be well worth a visit of only to see and admire the great white way.
